Beauty Versus Character—Every One Has Their Own Ideal of Beauty—Not Appraised Alike—Brilliance of Pattern and Intricacy of Design Distinguishing Marks of Present Season Brocades—Foilé Silks Are Now Given a Moire Effect—China Silks Effective for Blouses—Rose Crepe and Deep Pink Brocadings Beautiful—No Meat So Universally Popular as Ham—Many Ways of Preparing.

BEAUTY VERSUS CHARACTER

"I'd rather be beautiful than anything in the world," a woman said to me the other day. "Look at that stunning woman over there," she added, enviously. "There isn't a male heart in the world that couldn't win with that Venus face and form."

It is the belief of many women that if they were endowed with great physical perfection they could win the heart of any man, no matter how widely different their tastes might be. What an erroneous impression!

To begin with, physical beauty is not appraised alike by all men. One woman may have fascinated a half dozen men and a seventh would give her not more than a passing glance.

One man may see no beauty whatever in a flashing black eye, while the delight of heaven is reflected in eyes of blue. One man likes a "vicious" girl whose spirit bubbles over in wit and brilliancy of conversation. To another man the modest violet far surpasses in charm her brilliant sister.

Every man has his own ideal of beauty and no one can set a standard to guide the judgment of others.

But there is one thing above everything else that men crave and it is sympathy. And then, again, it is sympathy. And then, again, it is sympathy.

Rich brocades figure in season's wardrobes. Brilliance of pattern and intricacy of design are the distinguishing marks of the present season brocades, and so extreme is their popularity and so vast their vogue that no wardrobe of any size or laying claim to any distinction can possibly escape their influences. Subtly these brocades have crept into the world of fashion and left their impress on all goods alike. Impartially they have touched the heaviest moires and the lightest chiffons have left their impress alike on a Martine charmeuse and tinted in Bulgarian colors a rich velvet surface.

Perhaps the supple beauty of the charmeuse has been added to most gorgeously and with greatest effect by the handsome brocaded patterning. Poiret's creations are of them all the most impressive. One particularly striking goods shown recently was that of a black and white charmeuse with rosebud medallions splashed over the surface. These medallions glistened with tinsel flower motifs and so perfect were they that it seemed as though they were heralding, indeed, a "new art" in the fashionable woman's world.

The fallie silks that in the beginning of the season were perfectly plain are now given a moire effect, sometimes colored.

Rich velvets are being more and more offered with stunning brocaded designs. Oriental patterns mark out the good ones from the simpler materials. One evening gown which let its impress deep on the minds of all who saw it was that of rich brown velvet marvelously brocaded in Bulgarian pattern with gold thread. The tulle was of square mesh black tulle supplemented by bands of bead work. Gold shaded velvet the skirt went high into the bodice, while a huge splash of gold and brown autumn leaves rested against the skirt.

Unusually effective china silks are shown printed in many colors and shades and interwoven with delicate gold and silver shades. Made up into blouses, these same china silks are shown to striking advantage, especially when worn with tailored suits of the same color as the main tone struck in the blouse.

One might revel for hours among the brocaded goods in the shops. Louis XIV, XV, XVI designs are to be had under the name of "lame broche." Raised as perfectly as a cameo and over-stitched with gold, this "lame broche" is a work of art. Another is of rose crepe, and deep pink brocadings wind in and out among each other like the petals of a rose.

HAM IN MANY WAYS

Jellied Ham With Lettuce.

Soften one fourth package of gelatin in one fourth cup of cold water, and dissolve in one full cup of hot broth made from chicken bouillon cubes, seasoned with carrot, parsley, onion and sweet herbs if desired. Add about two cups of ham cooked and chopped. Turn into molds, and when cold cover with lettuce and salad dressing. Garnish with sliced hard boiled eggs.

HAM AND RICE

Chop fine two cups of cold boiled ham. Add one half teaspoon of salt, one half teaspoon of pepper, one teaspoon of minced parsley, one egg beaten and one half cup of cracker crumbs. Roll one cup of rice and one cup of cold water. Fill center with ham mixture, cover with rice and steam or bake forty-five minutes. Serve very hot.

BRUNSWICK STEW

Remove the bones from a four-pound chicken, cutting the meat into small sized pieces. Put into a large saucepan, adding enough boiling water to cover, one half pound of ham cut in cubes, and a large onion cut in slices. Cover the saucepan and let simmer gently for one and one half hours. Add one quart of tomatoes, one pint of tender lima beans, one pint of grated corn, four potatoes cut into quarters, salt, cayenne and black pepper to taste. Cover again and cook one hour. Next add one fourth pound of butter, stir well, and serve. Great care must be taken that the mixture does not scorch.

LUNCHEON HAM

Fill a medium sized baking dish with alternate layers of stale bread and ham, which has been chopped. Cover with two cups of milk mixed with three well beaten eggs. Season with salt and pepper to taste and bake one half hour.

HAM PIE

Line a deep dish with a good crust, using lard for shortening. Cut thin slices of ham and spread next the crust, then sprinkle bits of chicken upon the ham. Cover this with slices of hard boiled eggs, buttered and peppered. Continue in this way until all the materials are used, and pour in enough good cream to prevent dryness. Cover with a crust and bake one hour and a quarter.

INSPECT SUGAR FACTORY SCALES.

Although sugar factory scales are in better condition than they were there is still room for improvement. Such verbal report was made yesterday by C. E. Condie and P. W. Salmon, deputy inspectors of weights and measures for the state food and dairy department upon their return from an extended trip through Box Elder, Weber, Cache and Davis counties.

DISTRICT COURT ADJOURNS.

Paris, Idaho, Oct. 24.—The session of the Fifth judicial district court adjourned today and Judge Budget left for Malad. There were no cases of enough importance to warrant calling a jury, one or two cases being settled in chambers.

BATTLESHIP TO BE REPAIRED.

Washington, Oct. 24.—Yesterday's accident to the machinery of the battleship Texas, on her trial trip may send the big fighter back to New Port News for repairs.
